HYPRELUBE

NEW! HYPREZ POLISHING STONE LUBRICANT

Now Hyprelube is available in a wide mouth jar that can be used to pre-soak your polishing stones. This “dip jar” contains 16 fluid ounces of Hyprelube which can be used not only with polishing stones, but is well suited for thinning diamond compounds.

Hyprelube’s versatility does not end there. It is also oil- and water-soluble.

Specially formulated to lubricate while cleaning and preventing stone loading. It is non-hazardous and environmentally friendly.

While the Hyprez Hyprelube delivers all of these user friendly features, the advantages you will experience will be:

- Excellent surface finishes
- Can be used for roughing and provides for fast cutting
- Stones cut free
- Economical because the jar can be refilled

Hyprez Hyprelube, polishing stones, diamond compounds, and polishing tools and accessories are the perfect combination for all of your mold and die finishing tasks. You can look to Engis for quality and service at affordable prices.

Engis stocks a large selection of diamond compounds, diamond & CBN grinding pins, wood and felt polishing bobs, polishing stones, ceramic stones and many other fine tools.

Micro motor rotary handpieces, ultrasonic polishing systems and reciprocating profilers are also available from Engis or your local distributor.
